No, sorry.

What it is, is I run a site (www.dartforyouthcouncil.org), to which our members have a private pop3 email account. In my position as website administrator monitor the emails going through our system. However now that the number of emails I monitor has grown, there is 34 accounts on my list but if I click the send/rcv all button, only 32 are synchronised.

I would like to find a way round this. I have considered using the profiles feature (Would this work?)

*By the way, in case you were wondering, I also monitor various other Pop and Hotmail accounts from OE6
