

Re: Compressing news group headings in Folders panel

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.inetexplorer.ie6_outlookexpress/2004-08/5

From: Jim Pickering (jimp_at_mvps.Org)

Date: 08/29/04

Date: Sun, 29 Aug 2004 11:26:15 -0700

If your question is about the size of the Folder List, it is not resizable when the option is set under View/Layout to show the Folder List. If you uncheck that box, then add a button to the Toolbar in Outlook Express for Folder List (right click the Toolbar, select Customize the scroll to Folder List and click Add), you will find when you use the button, the size of the list is resizable by moving the mouse to the right edge of the list until it changes to a double headed arrow, then dragging it to the desired size. If that is the size you always wish it to open to, then use the 'x' at the top of the Folder List box to close it, click the Folder List button and it will reopen to your desired default size.

--

Jim Pickering, MVP-Outlook Express

Please reply only to newsgroup.

"Michael" <walsh67@netspace.net.au> wrote in message

news:cgs5s3$dsh$1@otis.netspace.net.au...

>I had to recently format my drive. Now I have OE6 running but where the >news group headings use to shorten when the panel was made small now they >don't is there some way to get this feature back or is it gone for good. I >think there was a site for making changes to OE but after formatting my >drive I've lost a great deal of info :)

>

> Much Obliged

> Michael :)

>