

Re: Cannot drag a link from Outlook Express to IE anymore

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.inetexplorer.ie6_outlookexpress/2004-10/4

From: MGB (MikeB_at_americansuccessmortgage.com)

Date: 10/29/04

Date: 28 Oct 2004 22:04:44 -0700

Here are the results that you requested. I already know of 3 other people that are having the same problem with this BUG.

;SP1;Q328970;Q324929;q254518;Q810847;Q813951;Q813489;Q330994;Q818529;Q822925;Q828750;Q824145;Q83

"Jim Pickering" <jimp@mvps.Org> wrote in message news:<OwqdhHJvEHA.1520@TK2MSFTNGP11.phx.gbl>...

> If you continue to refuse to reply as requested to the responses for help, I > guess you're stuck. You've been asked to run a brief script in Internet > Explorer to advise us of the version you are using, along with updates > you've installed. Without that information, it's hard to be helpful.
>
> *FWIW, I'm not aware of any bug that would prevent you from dragging a link > from anywhere, including an email message to anywhere you desire, whether it > is to a document, a folder or to the address bar in Internet Explorer or to > the Start/Run line. Continue with your diatribe as you desire, but you may > find that answers will no longer be forthcoming. Open your browser, insert > this into the address bar:*
>
> `javascript:navigator.appMinorVersion`
>
> *and then post back with the complete, exact results as shown in the screen.
> Or not. It's your choice.*
> --
> *Jim Pickering, MVP-Outlook Express
> Please reply only to newsgroup.*

>
>
>
> *"MGB" <MikeB@americansuccessmortgage.com> wrote in message > news:44a2153e.0410271524.257b7b4c@posting.google.com...
> > This is not an IE bug as your request for information on IE suggests.
> > The bug is in Outlook Express since you can't drag any link from an > > email message to IR or to a folder in Windows Explorer. This Bug was > > introduced from the latest security update from Microsoft. The loss of* > > this feature makes opening and saving links very time consuming.

> > Clicking on the link does you no good if you want to save the link and > > it does you no good if you use multiple browsers and your default > > browser is not IE. For that matter you might want to drag the link in > > a different browser. Regardly, the is a BUG that Microsoft intoduce to > > Outlook Express and I want to know how to fix it.
> >
> >
> >
> >
> > "PA Bear" <PABear@mymps.org> wrote in message
> > news:<eFDDvR6uEHA.2536@TK2MSFTNGP11.phx.gbl>...
> >> Copy/paste the following line into an IE Addressbar, click on GO, then > >> copy/paste the results into your reply:
> >>
> >> javascript:navigator.appMinorVersion
> >>
> >> Also state your Windows version.
> >> --
> >> ~Robear Dyer (PA Bear)
> >> MS MVP–Windows (IE/OE)
> >>
> >> blank gmail wrote:
> >>> "PA Bear" <PABear@mymps.org> wrote in message
> >>> news:<eGOjzbuuEHA.4044@tk2msftngp13.phx.gbl>...
> >>>> If you click on the link, does it open in IE?
> >>>>
> >>>> Suffering from the same problem (as are others who have emailed me > >>>> from my earlier post).
> >>>>
> >>>> The answer is yes, clicking works fine.
> >>>> Dragging does not even change to the drag cursor as it used to.
> >>>>
> >>>> Any help would be appreciated.
> >>>>
> >>>> Uninstalling hotfixes:
> >>>>
> >>>> KB840987 on 10/15/2004
> >>>> KB841356 on 10/15/2004
> >>>> KB841533 on 10/15/2004
> >>>>
> >>>> which appeared to have created the problem did not resolve it.
> >>>>
> >>>> I am thinking of re–installing OE6 from scratch. Comments?
> >>>>
> >>>>> MGB wrote:
> >>>>>> I have OE6 on Win2K and last week I downloaded some security
> >>>>>> updates
> >>>>>> from Microsoft which apparently disabled the drag and drop of a > >>>>>> link
> >>>>>> in the email to a folder or IE window. I would like to know how I microsoft.public.windows.inetexplorer.ie6_outlookexpress: Re: Cannot drag a link from Outlook Express to IE anymore > >> > > > can

> >> > > > fix this feature since it is now a royal pain to do a link shortcut

> >> > > > copy and past to > >> > > > the address of a browser window. Please tell me how to fix this

> >> > > > BUG.