

Re: OE6 and Hotmail

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.inetexplorer.ie6_outlookexpress/2005-05/m

- From: "Kath Adams" <kathadams@(nospam)mvps.org>
 - Date: Tue, 31 May 2005 08:01:17 +0100
-

Dave Smith wrote:

> Before I learnt how to download emails from my Hotmail into OE, i was > forced to save all of my old important hotmail emails directly onto > my hard-drive as
> .html files.

Did you delete the emails directly on the Hotmail website after saving as HTML files?

> How can I convert them into a format that i can import into OE 6?
> In fact, how DO i import them into OE 6?

You could just email them to yourself as attachments, but they would still be HTML files. Right click and choose>send to>mail recipient. You can copy and paste them into a Word processing program and save them as docs, then email them to yourself. Again the format would then be doc.
Or copy and paste them into an email to yourself.

> Last...if that is not possible, is there a way that i can upload them > back into hotmail, and then download them from there into OE 6?
>
> Thanks for the help.

--

Kath Adams
MS MVP – Windows (IE/OE)

-
- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: OE6 and Hotmail
◇ From: Dave Smith
 - References:
 - ◆ OE6 and Hotmail
◇ From: Dave Smith

Re: OE6 and Hotmail

- Prev by Date: Re: windows explorer crash
- Next by Date: Re: help (no paper clip, no attachment)
- Previous by thread: OE6 and Hotmail
- Next by thread: Re: OE6 and Hotmail
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread