

Re: What is wrong with Outlook Express to receive my Hotmail emails recently?

Re: What is wrong with Outlook Express to receive my Hotmail emails recently?

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.inetexplorer.ie6_outlookexpress/2005-06/m

- From: "Nicola Redwood" <nospam@xxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 7 Jun 2005 23:01:45 +0100
-

"Vanguard" <Vangu@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
<news:uyRyeexaFHA.2884@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
> "L" <lisaanne_quilts@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
> news:lk5pe.19580\$HP1.13930@xxxxxxxxxxxx
>
>> "Vanguard" <Vangu@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
>> <news:%23AR1fytaFHA.3280@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
>>>
>>> "Hardy Wang" <hardywang@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
>>> <news:u0rvuopaFHA.2356@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
>>>> Recently, I failed to receive Hotmail emails via Outlook Express 6, I >>>> got following message:
>>>>
>>>> Have you tried logging in using the webmail interface? Could be the >>>> login procedure is getting interrupted with a security page that >>>> requires you to enter a code shown in a graphical display (to prevent >>>> scripts from reading it and entering the code). Once you login and get >>>> past the intervening security page, logins should work for awhile (until >>>> the intervening security page shows up again to interfere with logging >>>> in when not using the webmail interface). Whether or not your Hotmail >>>> account got grandfathered in to allow continued WebDAV access, I've >>>> heard of this intervening security page showing up for ALL freebie >>>> accounts, new or grandfathered. Supposedly you get rid of it with a >>>> paid account.
>>>>
>>>> Aaaahhh. Yes, I'd forgotten about that one. Happened to me about a month >>>> back with one of my accounts. Damn, I hate those 'guess the code' >>>> security screens. Show up so botched that it isn't just OCR programs that >>>> have trouble with recognition, lol.
>>>>
>>>> I have a grandfathered Hotmail freebie account but I rarely use it. I >>>> used to use YahooPOPs with free Yahoo accounts to give me POP3 acc