Oh By the way...

I have no idea if it's anything to do with anything but I have seen some strange problems caused by video card drivers... you would think that would affect every program but most of what I have seen seemed only to affect IE, and since IE and OE share common code maybe you could check for driver updates and stuff. IE can do some pretty neat tricks with video, although it's almost never used. I guess that may be why drivers sometimes show problem with IE rather than simpler stuff.

See the examples for some fancy stuff... who knows, you may find some repeatable problem that will give us a clue.
