

Re: MCE 2055– Tuner not available...Help!

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.mediacenter/2004-11/2371.html>

From: James Edelen (jj4_at_mvps.org)

Date: 11/14/04

Date: Sun, 14 Nov 2004 13:59:59 -0500

This may not help very much, but I have found that I get that error every once in a while (with 1x Hauppauge PVR 250, 1x Hauppauge PRV USB-2 and 1x ATI HD Wonder) and a reboot always seems to fix it.

"KJN" <KJN@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message news:9DD8BA6A-8F36-4C6A-A068-0C4C2D4923E5@microsoft.com...

> Here's the deal...

>

> New build consisting of:

>

> ATI 9800 Pro...latest driver.

> EHome Wonder...latest driver.

> Update...Rollup 1. Then... installed HDTV wonder...latest Driver.

> Install worked perfectly...Hardware detected... no problem.

> Device Manager...everything's fine.

> Now... MCE Setup.

> Cable guide...downloaded...no problem.

> HD signal detection...no problem.

>

> Here's the problem:

>

> MCE says "No Tuners available".

>

> Before I throw this $2000, really nice looking, P4 3.2ghz, 1mb dual channel, Intel875 > piece of junk into the swimming pool, I would be grateful for any assistance.

>

> In the mean time, I'll keep working on it.

>

> Respectfully,

>

> KJN

>