

invalid system disk

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.mediacenter/2005-03/3937.html>

From: Dave (Dave_at_discussions.microsoft.com)

Date: 03/23/05

Date: Wed, 23 Mar 2005 06:17:04 -0800

Hey guys

My computer was working fine until i failed to renew my Norton antivirus subscription on time, it suddenly died in the arse and now when i turn it on i get

Invalid system disk

Replace the disk, and then press any key

There are no disks in any drives, i can access the BIOS and it is detecting the hard drive, i have also set it 2 boot harddrive first.

Im assuming i am the victim of a boot sector virus is there anyway i can get windows XP 2 start again from DOS or can anyone recommend a good data recovery program that is easy 2 use

i have created a DOS boot disk that works.