

Re: Newbie? and "The Masters"

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.mediacenter/2005-04/msg00893.html>

- From: "DotCom" <No@xxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 5 Apr 2005 10:08:00 -0700
-

Ok thank you both.

Another question please.

I have a USB 2.0 as well as firewire external Western digital HD 250 gig.

Can I download and record as well as play off the external?

TIA

dot

"Dana Cline - MVP" <dcline@xxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message

<news:%23h5spEVOFHA.2704@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>

> It does record to your hard drive, so how much you can record depends on > how > much free hard drive space you have. Figure maybe 5 gigs per hour, > depending > on the show and how you've set up Media Center. As for burning them to > you'll need a specific piece of software to do that. There are several, > including the latest version of Nero.

> DVD,

>

> Is the tuner you ordered compatible with your version of MCE?

>

> Dana Cline - MVP

>

> "Peggy" <No@xxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message

> <news:eEVLqCTOFHA.604@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>

>> Hi All,

>> Newbie here so please excuse.

>> I just took possession of a new Laptop with MCE on it. I did not get it >> with a tuner card because I wanted to get my own after market brand which > is >> on it's way. Anyway, Hubby wants me to record "The Masters". This is >> several hours of TV programming. How does that work exactly? It first >> records it to my hard drive right so it doesn't matter how long it is > right?

>> Now how would I record it to DVD? I do have a Dual Layer DVD on the >> lappy

>> so does it know to span on several DVD's or what?

Re: Newbie? and "The Masters"

>> Please advise.
>> TIA
>> dot
>>
>>
>
>

• References:

- ◆ Newbie? and "The Masters"
 - ◇ From: Peggy
 - ◆ Re: Newbie? and "The Masters"
 - ◇ From: Dana Cline – MVP
-
- Prev by Date: Re: Looking for program file management utility beta testers
 - Next by Date: Re: Slide Show in Media Center
 - Previous by thread: Re: Newbie? and "The Masters"
 - Next by thread: Big problem with full-screen mode in MCE 2005...possible bug?
 - Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread