

Re: problem running my program as a service with Idaps

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.active_directory/2004-04/0398.html

From: Arild Bakken (arildb__at_hotmail.com)

Date: 04/06/04

Date: Tue, 6 Apr 2004 15:39:51 +0200

Okey... I don't see why though.... but I thought of one thing... Services running under the localsystem account are identified on the network as the computer account. So try adding the certificate to the computer account in AD and see if it helps. It's a longshot, but it won't hurt to try (you may have to reboot for the change to take effects)

Arild

"Rover" <bla@bla.com> wrote in message news:c4u2kl$37c$1@news.cistron.nl...

> I really need to run it as localsystem :) Thx tho.

>

>

>

> "Arild Bakken" <arildb__at_hotmail.com> wrote in message

> news:uXlzSA8GEHA.740@tk2msftngp13.phx.gbl...

>> I've never used certificates myself, but one idea would be to create a >> service account to run that service under, and install the certificate

on >> that useraccount. Unless you really NEED your service to run as >> localsystem... Running a service under localsystem also poses problems

> when >> accessing network resources, so AD might not be the only problem you run >> into.

>>

>>

>> Arild

>>

>> "Rover" <bla@bla.com> wrote in message

> news:c4tp00$np1$1@news.cistron.nl...

>>> PS :

>>>

>>> snip

>>>> certificate , or cant find it. When i run my program under the user

> i microsoft.public.windows.server.active_directory: Re: problem running my program as a service with ldaps > > > login with to the computer (the same user i installed the certificate > > > with)

> > > then it succeeds connecting to ldaps.
> > > snip
> > >
> > > I meant : "... When i run my program _as a service_ under the user i > login
> > > with..."
> > > And another note: the user i login with to the computer is an > > administrator.
> > >
> > >
> > >
> > >
> >
> >
>
>
>
>