

RE: Roaming Outlook Express Account?

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.active_directory/2005-05/msg00096

- From: "TC10284" <TC10284@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 2 May 2005 15:16:17 -0700
-

hmmm.....or would I need to setup an Exchange server (remote webmail) and/or have my own Email server instead?

"TC10284" wrote:

- > Hey guys!
 - >
 - > I have a Active Directory domain setup in Server 2003 with common user
 - > accounts.
 - > I have a client that needs to login to various machines on the domain and
 - > have the ability to send/recieve email (POP3/SMTP) in Outlook Express. Is
 - > there a way to setup an account (roaming or whatever) to where it will have
 - > the Outlook Express account settings when the client logs into Windows (2000
 - > or XP).
 - >
 - > Thanks!
 - >
 - > Tavis
 - .
-

• References:

- ◆ Roaming Outlook Express Account?
◇ From: TC10284

- Prev by Date: Domain Admin password changes
- Next by Date: DC cannot see AD
- Previous by thread: Roaming Outlook Express Account?
- Next by thread: Domain Admin password changes
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread