

RE: XP sp2 NT domain trust 2003 AD

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.active_directory/2005-06/msg01910

- From: "skip" <skip@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 24 Jun 2005 13:28:03 -0700
-

a quick update. I gave the user back her NT workstaion and she hasnt been locked out since i gave her the workstaion 2 hours ago. So there is something going on with this XP workstation.

Thanks

"Gautam Anand" wrote:

- > 1. Are you sure that they get locked out when they access that one trusted domain server. ie if you repro it doest it (nearly) always lockout the account.
 - >
 - > 2. if you create a new user, login as that user and then access the trusted domain server, does this guy get locked out too.
 - >
 - > 3. What are your password and account lockout policies.
 - >
 - > 4. run from a cmd promot "net accounts" and copy past the output here.
 - >
 - > what OS and SP level are you on the Domain Controllers. Also is that trusted domain server part of the NT domain you migrated from?
- .

• References:

- ◆ XP sp2 NT domain trust 2003 AD
◇ From: skip
- ◆ RE: XP sp2 NT domain trust 2003 AD
◇ From: Gautam Anand

- Prev by Date: Re: Browsing the network
- Next by Date: RE: Ldifde - Schema Changes
- Previous by thread: RE: XP sp2 NT domain trust 2003 AD
- Next by thread: Trying to use NetJoinDomain API...
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread