

Re: Active Directory Export (LDIFDE)

---

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.active\_directory/2005-11/msg00159

---

- From: Ulf B. Simon-Weidner [MVP] <nospam2-ulf@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Fri, 4 Nov 2005 18:45:46 +0100
-

=?Utf-8?B?Q2Fkc3RpbGxv?= says...

> I am attempting to perform an Active Directory Export using the LDIFDE tool.
> I am unable to successfully export the users. I am exporting a test OU that > has 4 users in it and I am getting the following output:

>
> Connecting to "dc"
> Logging in as current user using SSPI
> Exporting directory to file test.ldf
> Searching for entries...
> Writing out entries
> No Entries found
>
> The command has completed successfully
>
> Any ideas?

>
Hello,

Can you provide the commandline you were using to "export" them?

—

Gruesse – Sincerely,

Ulf B. Simon-Weidner

MVP-Book "Windows XP – Die Expertentipps": <http://tinyurl.com/44zcz>

Weblog: <http://msmvps.org/UlfBSimonWeidner>

Website: <http://www.windowsserverfaq.org>

.

-
- Prev by Date: ***Re: Which DC for authentication?***
  - Next by Date: ***Is there a tool to make a AD infrastructure graph***
  - Previous by thread: ***Re: Which DC for authentication?***
  - Next by thread: ***Is there a tool to make a AD infrastructure graph***
  - Index(es):
    - ◆ ***Date***

Re: Active Directory Export (LDIFDE)

◆ Thread