I used that as a test and I figured out what the issue was. Thank you for all of your help.

so what conclusions did you get?

Hi

In line

I have set up the home directories in the root of one of the drives without a parent folder and I shared the drive. I am not sure if that could be the problem but that is the only thing that I could think of.

Re: Folder Redirection

Try this:

- Create a folder under your drive like "Home".
- Share it and give full access to everyone under share permissions, under nfts permissions give full control to system, and everyone.
- Reconfigure redirection policy.
