Create a trust, you could then have a domain local group and populate all the users within this group.

See the section on users and groups from the link below

I have two domains belonging in two seperate forests. I need for a group of users in the second domain to have access to a database in the first domain.
Should I create a global group or universal group? The domain functional level is Wind Serv 2k3 Interim mode.

Any suggestions will be greatly appreciated!
