Hi All,

We are shifting our entire office to a new location and this shifting includes movement of all computers and servers as well. Which means we have to shift our domain controller as well. Now what I need to ask u guys is that do we need to demote DC. I dont think so beacuse everything s gonna remain same (including ip address, name of DC, domain that it controlls) except that it will be installed at new location.

Any thoughts on this anybody.

Regards,
Pankaj
