

Specific permission needed to join computers to a domain?

Source:

http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.active_directory/2007-06/msg01260

- From: "Jason W." <jasonwilliams74@xxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 26 Jun 2007 19:59:48 -0000
-

What specific permission does an account need in order to join a new computer to a domain?

I ask because I am trying to widdle down the number of domain admins on our network and use delegation as needed.

One of the things I was thinking about is what type of permission our techs would need in order to bring new computers built, into our domain.

Does it have to be domain admins?

Can I setup some type of delegation on the 'Computers OU' and give a group certain access?

If they wanted to move a computer to a specific OU bin, i could use delegation for that as well?

Thanks.

JW

.