Hi!

As I have mentioned before I've got a server with the windows server 2003 which is already updated where I have a domain with the ActiveDirectory running which is also the file server.

I've acquired a new server with many more resources where I've installed the Windows server 2003 SP2 with RAID3, what I wish to do next is to make the transfer from the ActiveDirectory to the new server, how can I do that? I didn't create the ActiveDirectory nor do I have enough knowledge to make the copy from one programme to the other, could you help me in this task by leading me the way step by step so that I can make this transfer with the least errors possible?

Thanking you in advance

Re: Active Directory em Win2003 Server SP2 para um novo Servidor

boas noites

peço desculpa de escrever em portugues, mas assim é mais facil para mim descrever o que pretendo na realidade.

como ja tinha referido tenho um servidor com o windows server 2003 ja antigo

onde tenho um dominio com o ActiveDirectory a funcionar e tambem é o servidor de ficheiros.

comprei um novo servidor com muito mais recursos onde instalei o windows server 2003 SP2 com RAID3, agora queria fazer a transferencia do

ActiveDirectory para este novo servidor como posso proceder?

agora o mais dificil nao fui eu que criei o ActiveDirectory, ne
