

Re: NLB with 2 NICs

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.clustering/2005-10/msg00279.html>

- From: "Russ Kaufmann [MVP]" <russ@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 25 Oct 2005 16:00:37 -0600
-

"JJ" <gggg@xxxxxxx> wrote in message

news:uHv1Aoa2FHA.3876@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

> OK, thanks for the link, but I'm confused now. Would I have all patch > leads going to the same hub or just the heartbeat??

To protect against flooding? All of your public facing connections would go to the hub and then the hub would go to the switch. The switch would then be happy because it knows what port has the MAC for the NLB cluster.

The heartbeat should never be attached to anything but the other heartbeats.

I hope that helps.

--

Russ Kaufmann

MVP – Windows Server – Clustering

<http://www.clusterhelp.com> – Cluster Website

<http://msmvps.com/clusterhelp> – Blog

• Follow-Ups:

- ◆ Re: NLB with 2 NICs
◇ From: JJ

• References:

- ◆ NLB with 2 NICs
◇ From: JJ
- ◆ Re: NLB with 2 NICs
◇ From: Russ Kaufmann [MVP]
- ◆ Re: NLB with 2 NICs
◇ From: JJ

Re: NLB with 2 NICs

- Prev by Date: Re: NLB with 2 NICs
- Next by Date: Re: Evict a node and add a new node..
- Previous by thread: Re: NLB with 2 NICs
- Next by thread: Re: NLB with 2 NICs
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread