

Re: Cannot Login – Corrupt Login UI on Win2003

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.general/2004-07/1658.html>

From: John H. Bergman (john_h_bergman_at_hotmail.com)

Date: 07/22/04

Date: Wed, 21 Jul 2004 19:27:26 -0500

Sorry about that, I posted from the Microsoft Web Site, and the posts did not show up there until today!

I replied to your reply on the other thread

(Thanks)

John

"Arek Iskra [MVP]" <arek_nospam@arekiskra.com> wrote in message news:uy2MJvxbEHA.1004@TK2MSFTNGP11.phx.gbl...

> Please avoid multiple posting. I have answered you in one of your earlier posts. Similar suggestion to the one given by Kristofer.

>

> --

> Arek Iskra

> Microsoft MVP for Windows Server – Management

>

> "John Bergman" <john.bergman@online.gogallagher.com> wrote in message > news:036101c46e04$f2e73620$a401280a@phx.gbl...

> > Recently I have a computer that ran out of disk space on > > drive C. When I realized this, I signed on and got a > > warning about having to use a temp profile because there > > was not enough room to copy the administrator profile.

> >

> > I freed up about 10 gigs of space (lots of test logs > > present); and decided that it would be best to reboot to > > clear up anything else that may have gone bad.

> >

> > Upon reboot, I get a black screen with just the top part > > of the booting up dialog (ie, the dialog that is > > displayed with the logo and a moving rainbow bar). After > > that, I get the login prompt, again with only the logo.

> >

> > I do not have the caption bar, nor visibly any of the > > controls. I can tab between what would appear to be the > > username and password area. When I enter a valid user > > name, a few minutes pass and then I get a popup dialog.

> >

> > The popup dialog ONLY has the warning (yellow triangle);
> > and NOTHING else.. so I cannot tell what is wrong with > > login prompt. There is nothing written into any of the > > event logs that lead toward a reason for this behavior > > either.
> >
> > I have the AdminPak installed on another computer, I can > > connect to the computer and administer it. I can net use > > the drives and access them freely.
> >
> > It appears that this problem has only affected the > > desktop.
> >
> > Anyone have any ideas?
> >
> > Thanks,
> > John
> >
> > PS> To reply, remove the 'online.' from my email address;
> > I will also monitor the news group.
>
>