

Re: SP1 and ICS

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.general/2005-04/msg00182.html>

- From: "John J. Hughes II" <no@xxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 1 Apr 2005 07:58:05 -0500
-

Assume it was a typo and you mean 2k3SP1... :)

Any memory of the reg name?

Thanks,
John

"Simmo" <fake.email@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
news:FA9DA8C7-09D5-4C3D-B509-18974945EFD7@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

> I found this before when the Windows Firewall started causing issues, it > ended up being firewall settings that weren't displayed in the gui to the > user, I think I manually edited the registry to remove them. That was > XPSP2

> but they may have fixed in the 2k3SP3. Just a thought,

>

> Hope that helps

>

>

> Cheers, Simmo

>

> "John J. Hughes II" wrote:

>

>> I installed SP1 from the windows update website this morning on Win2K3EE.

>> Everything seems to work except that none of the other computer in my >> network can see the internet. All the network computer can access the >> shared folders on the server so the network is working. If I ping any >> website from a client the correct IP comes back even though the ping >> fails

>> so the DNS is working.

>>

>> I have since uninstalled SP1 and all is working again. The only think >> odd >> that I did notice was where ICS use to be on the advance properties of >> the >> network with the firewall was missing, firewall setting were still there.

>> The ICS service is running and there are no events about it in the log.

>>

>> Any suggestion on what to try next time I install SP1?

>>
>> Note the server is running as a domain and the other computer are set as >> a >> group so the fast switching works on XP.
>>
>> Regards,
>> John
>>
>>
>>

• Follow-Ups:

- ◆ Re: SP1 and ICS
◇ From: Simmo

• References:

- ◆ SP1 and ICS
◇ From: John J. Hughes II
- ◆ RE: SP1 and ICS
◇ From: Simmo

- Prev by Date: Re: Reboot Speed
- Next by Date: Windows CALs
- Previous by thread: RE: SP1 and ICS
- Next by thread: Re: SP1 and ICS
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread