

Problem with W2k3 SP1

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.general/2005-06/msg00017.html>

- From: Sam <Sam@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 31 May 2005 16:09:04 -0700
-

Hi all,

I recently installed SP1 on my Windows 2003 server. After that whenever I try to access the system event log I am getting the error message that it is corrupt. The other 2 event logs are accessible. I have tried deleting the syseven.evt and recreating it. It works as long as I do not reboot, after a reboot and I try to access it again I get the same message. Has anyone else experience this?

Also I know it must be a problem with the service pack because I formatted the hard drive and reinstalled to operating system and the error only occurs after the installation of the service pack.

Cheers,
Sam

.

- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ RE: Problem with W2k3 SP1
 - ◇ From: ncvandy
 - ◆ RE: Problem with W2k3 SP1
 - ◇ From: TheKid71
- Prev by Date: Windows Error Reporting --- disabled or not?
- Next by Date: Re: Windows 2003 Standard Diskpart Extend
- Previous by thread: Windows Error Reporting --- disabled or not?
- Next by thread: RE: Problem with W2k3 SP1
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread