Hello,

I am looking for a simple (free/shareware if possible) application that will simply do a dump of my event viewer logs on a couple of my servers (2000/2003) to a local directory or remote directory. I do not want any sort of huge logging service application that takes up lots of network traffic. Just simply something I can do a dump on a specified interval (preferably daily) so I can clear out the event viewer. I would like to do this on maybe a half dozen of my servers.

Thanks so much if you could suggest something.

Look into the available options with Log Parser.
