Windows 2003 server is discussed a lot in the "windows.server.general" newsgroup.

Hello! I have a little problem with Windows 2003 Terminalserver. When user logs on, then sometimes they have 2 or more language bars and the quick lunch bar is on the right site instead on the left site. And the useres cannot change it because they have no rights. So I think that this should not happen because when I say "quick lunch" should be on the left, it should be on the left for years. I searched a little bit in the internet about this problem, but haven't found anything. So, does anyone had the same problem and solved it?

"quick lunch", LOL
