I could post some of the event logs, but nothing in them indicate there was any problems with getting into the policies,

I came across this error because I had the following error "security policies were propagated with warning. 0x534 No mapping between account names and security ID was done" which I've found that a old user account was deletes but not removed from the group policy. And when I went to go to go into the policy to correct that error thats when I get the original error

Hello Tim,

Please post the eventlog entries, that we have more information and describe what you have done before the error.

Best regards

Re: Group Policy Problem

Hello,

I'm having an odd problem when I try to open up either the Domain Controller Security Policy or Domain Security Policy. I get the following error Failed to open the Group Policy Object. You not have appropriate rights.

Details Box:

The specified domain either does not exist or could not be contacted.

This is the only server in the domain, not sure whats going on, I had been able to access it previously.
