

Dual Enterprise CAs?

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.general/2007-06/msg01065.html>

- From: withawhyme-ng@xxxxxxxxxx
 - Date: Wed, 27 Jun 2007 16:13:49 -0700
-

Hello All,

I upgraded our Enterprise CA from Windows 2000 to Windows 2003 Standard and it now refuses to issue certificates. Is it possible to set up Certificate Services on a 2003 Enterprise box and have both Enterprise CAs running concurrently? While I can't find documentation that recommends having two CAs, I can't find anywhere that warns against it either.

Ideally, the new CA would start issuing certs, which would allow us to take the original box offline eventually.

We use certificates to validate computers logging on to our wireless network. Although logging on to wireless is broken at the moment, I'd hate to make things worse by breaking EFS or the like too.

Any insight or proposed solutions would be much appreciated.

Cheers,
Brent

.