Re: Server Work Queues

Source:
http://www.tech−archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.general/2008−03/msg00151.html

- From: ds_dennis@xxxxxxxxxxx
- Date: Wed, 5 Mar 2008 04:11:00 −0800 (PST)

On 5 mrt, 12:13, "NeilH" <n...@xxxxxxxxx> wrote:

> <ds_den...@xxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
>
> news:7cf76770−07e7−4d8f−9614−d9ad32825715@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx
>
> > Hi,
> >
> > I've a problem with a windows 2003 file server.
> > Every day from 9.45 till 9 'o clock the file server has a really bad > > perfomance. When i take a look at the server i notice that the cpu > > load is 100% and the server work Queues is about 4000!!!!!!!!!!!!
> >
> > I already removed all pst files..
> >
> > Windows 2003 sp1
> > VMware esx 3.0
>
> When you look in the task manager, under "processes" you should be able to > see what is taking the time.

I forgot to say that i've already done that. The process is the Server service.
The server stores profiles, homedirs en userdata. Concurrent user= +/− 1600
Is seems to have an relation with the logon time. Data is stored at an EMC san.
.