Hello Hii,

So you are not able to logon, even after a reboot? Did you try in safe mode?

Best regards

I tried Computer Management to remotely manage the server from my Vista notebook, so that I can read the event log, but unluckily, it behaved the same way – round circle, continuous circling (like the hourglass effects of earlier operating system), it was like that forever.

Hello Hii,

Check the event log for errors and post them here.

Best regards

I setup a Windows 2008 Enterprise server on DL360 G5 in February. I have experienced 5 times when I login it just stay at the "welcome"

Re: Login to Windows 2008 stalls at "Welcome" logo, with a continuously circling circle on its left, and it remains like this for ever. Every time when I met with this problem, I have to force shutdown the server. Is there any idea how I can go about to resolve this problem?
