Hello,

I have problem on Task Scheduler on few Windows 2003 servers. Scheduled tasks were unable to run. The problem will be solved by rebooting server, however, same issue occurred after a few days.

When i tries to right click on one of the task, it prompt the error message below:

General page initialization failed.

The specific error is:

0x80070003: The system cannot find the path specified.

An error has occurred attempting to retrieve task account information. You may continue editing the task object, but will be unable to change task account information.

Anyone can help? I tried searching on the net but there's no concrete solution to this problem.

Thanks in advanced.

Do you see any events in the event log?
