We have NT 4.0 SP6 installed on a server which currently has a 1GB partition for the system partition. I have tried on a test server to upgrade, and it complains that there is not enough room, and needs 1121 MB of free disk space. The disk is 4GB, and this is the only partition on the disk.

I do have space available on the D: drive, but it did not give me that option on the test server.

Any suggestions?
