I currently run a Windows 2000 server as a member server in a domain. I have acquired another server that is running Windows server 2003. I want to replace the Windows 2000 server with the new 2003 server. I want the 2003 to have the same name.

I have 24 printers installed and shared on the current Windows 2000 server. Is there a way or tool to use to migrate the printers to the Windows server 2003 server without reinstalling the printers?

Also what is the best way to move the 8 shared folders on the Windows 2000 server to the new Windows server 2003 while maintaining the existing rights and permissions on the folder when it gets to Windows server 2003 server?

Thank you,

Oludan
