

Re: Can not logon cause physical address change

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.networking/2005-04/msg00330.html>

- From: "Michael Giorgio – MS MVP" <Michael.Giorgio@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 12 Apr 2005 10:17:06 -0400
-

Do you mean reserved IP lease? The machine wasn't getting a tcp/ip address from your DHCP server so machine wasn't connected to your network.

"bblouh" <bblouh@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message news:
> I have found out today that the M.A.C. Or physical address of my laptop was > causing the problem with the logon on to the domain. With them not being the > same. So I deleted the reserved IP lease for my laptop on the DHCP server & > rebooted it & my laptop. then it assigned me an new ip address now things are > fine. I did not know for sure if that was the problem or not but was running > out of things to try. I hope that this this posting may be helpful to someone > down the road. Cause I have found it to be helpful to me. And to answer your
> ? I tried to run ipconfig /release then ipconfig /renew no help or I could > not ping the server. There was no error message it just said that windows > could not repair my connection, contact your isp or network administrator.

-
- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: Can not logon cause physical address change
 ◇ From: bblouh
 - References:
 - ◆ Can not logon cause physical address change
 ◇ From: bblouh
 - ◆ Re: Can not logon cause physical address change
 ◇ From: Michael Giorgio – MS MVP

Re: Can not logon cause physical address change

- ◆ Re: Can not logon cause physical address change
◇ From: Michael Giorgio – MS MVP
- ◆ Re: Can not logon cause physical address change
◇ From: Michael Giorgio – MS MVP
- ◆ Re: Can not logon cause physical address change
◇ From: bblouh
- ◆ Re: Can not logon cause physical address change
◇ From: Michael Giorgio – MS MVP
- ◆ Re: Can not logon cause physical address change
◇ From: bblouh

- Prev by Date: Passive FTP problems behind Win-2003-SPI routers
- Next by Date: 2003 planning for county government and public safety
- Previous by thread: Re: Can not logon cause physical address change
- Next by thread: Re: Can not logon cause physical address change
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread