

Re: Change Administrator Password on XP machines

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.networking/2006-07/msg00074.html>

- From: "Brad Dinerman [MVP – Windows Server Networking]"
<NewsPost@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Thu, 06 Jul 2006 10:48:21 -0400
-

Please see my TechTips site at <http://brad.dinerman.com/techtips>.

In particular, please see tip #2 under the Windows category.

Yours,
Brad

Bradley J. Dinerman, MVP – Windows Server Systems
President, New England Information Security Group
<http://www.neisg.org>

Tom wrote:

Is there a command line that will change the computers administrator password? Or is there another way I can force a password change on the computers connected to the 2003 server? I need to change this password on 140 machines or prevent someone from logging as the administrator to local machine and I do not want to go to all 140 computers and change it.