First of all I don't know if I am in the right forum, however, here my question. I have a network with 4 servers in the Head Office of which one is a Terminal Server. Now I have to setup the users in an office away from the Head Office, however, only a few Workstations are already joined to the Domain. Is it possible that I can join the Workstations which are not joined to the Domain yet to the Domain remotly and how do I do that.

Thanks
