

Re: Reinstalling SBS2003

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.sbs/2004-02/1362.html>

From: Steven Banks [SBS MVP] (steve_at_newsonline.banksnw.com)

Date: 02/12/04

Date: Wed, 11 Feb 2004 22:38:17 -0800

Hi Joes,

Depends on what files were corrupted. If it is a test box, I would flatten it and reload SBS to a clean drive. The registration/activation is the same as XP. It will see you have the same hardware and information and "most likely" do the activation online without the need for a phone call.

Steve

--

Banks Consulting Northwest

<http://www.banksnw.com>

"joes" <anonymous@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message news:e5cc01c3f12e$fd3674e0$a101280a@phx.gbl...

> Some files got corrupted and one of my SBS2003 "Test box".
> Can I reinstall by running setup again on the same box > and using the same parameters as before? I have registered > this setup. I assume I will be prompted to register it > again but won't this be disallowed or will I have to do it > by phone on the second pass?