

Re: Errors after a clean install of SBS2K3

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.sbs/2004-06/6871.html>

From: Luis A. Burgos (luis_at_hasnopublicaddress.com)

Date: 06/25/04

Date: Fri, 25 Jun 2004 11:35:07 -0400

I apologize, I meant Exchange 2K3 SP1.

"Luis A. Burgos" <luis@hasnopublicaddress.com> wrote in message news:u3zHnnsWEHA.1684@tk2msftngp13.phx.gbl...

> Hello,

>

> I had to reinstall SBS 2K3 because of a faulty motherboard. The existing one > was a Duron 2000+, the new one, an Athlon XP 2400. Both with 768 MB ram.

>

> I tried to avoid re-installing, since SBS had been running so smoothly por > the past months, but for whatever reason, I had to reinstall.

>

> The installation process was smooth, out of a DVD, no problems. I configured

> SBS with the IP address, SMTP, exchange, IIS, companyweb, etc, etc, etc as > usual. I also installed the Exchange SP3.

>

> Now I'm getting this Remote Access error:

>

> Unable to add the interface {4E3CB8A8-92E9-42F8-8CC8-7A872CF2517B} > with the Router Manager for the IP protocol. The following error occurred:

> Cannot complete this function.

>

>

> And I can't VPN into my box. The server is behind a Linksys router and has > PPTP port open, along with the VPN passthrough enabled.

>

> I re-ran the connection wizard and got this message in event log:

>

> The following settings were successfully configured by the Remote Access

> Wizard:

> Virtual private network (VPN) access is enabled.

> IP addresses are assigned to remote client computers by using the DHCP > server provided with Windows Small Business Server 2003.

>

microsoft.public.windows.server.sbs: Re: Errors after a clean install of SBS2K3

> Still cannot connect, this is the error from the client:
>
> A PPP conversacion was attempted but the remote server did not respond.
This > error occurs when the remote server does not support PPP, such as Windows
NT
> 3.51..."
>
> I had been using the same connection for months
>
> It hangs at "Verifying usernname and pasword..."
>
> I am also getting errors from MSExchange IS such as:
>
> Accept clients on External Interface MAPIRPC failed with 0x4b1
> For more Information click on <http://www.microsoft.com/contentredirect.asp>
>
> Any help would be appreciated!
>
> Regards,
>
> Luis
>
>
>
>