

Re: disk space decrease at rapid rate

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.sbs/2004-07/5750.html>

mariacoza_at_infinito.it

Date: 07/23/04

Date: 22 Jul 2004 23:24:09 -0700

i use treepie. <http://treepie.sf.net>

use the beta version not the alpha.

i found it so usefull to dislay size distribution of a disk.

By the way you can start it with a path as paramater and it will start from this point to scan.

A usefull small software!

bye

"Axel Larson" <Axel@office.reliasense.com> wrote in message news:<OYc#CbEcEHA.596@TK2MSFTNGP11.phx.gbl>...

> If you can get diruse.exe from the Resource Kit, you can create a daily list of directory sizes to locate where the growth is occurring.

>

> --

> Axel Larson

> "The more it does for you,

> the more it does to you"

>

> "Richard" <anonymous@discussions.microsoft.com> wrote in message > news:273501c47042$f28b1490$a301280a@phx.gbl...

>> I'm running SB 2000. Disk space was decreasing by at lease

>> 5mb a day, excluding any data from email messages. In one

>> 4 days period, the disk space decrease by 28mb. There is >> nothing running except for the email. Is there any >> maintenance jobs that I have to run every day ? I did >> delete or clean up the badmail from time to time. Can >> anyone help on this. Thanks.