

Re: RWW disconnecting

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.sbs/2005-01/0221.html>

From: Andrew Daws MCSE (AndrewDawsMCSE_at_discussions.microsoft.com)

Date: 01/01/05

Date: Sat, 1 Jan 2005 04:49:01 -0800

That was indeed helpful, as the WINS database is somewhat strange. I made a point of logging onto PEAR successfully, then logged onto the server again as administrator, and the WINS database showed no PEAR entry at all. Hmm. Any idea where to go now?

"ye11owbeard" wrote:

- > Sounds like either a conflicting IP address or a duplicate entry in the WINS
- > or DNS.
- >
- > IE:
- >
- > WINS database
- >
- > Pear is registered as 192.168.1.6
- > Pine is registered as 192.168.1.6
- >
- > Or in the DNS something similiar.
- >
- > Normally this does not ever happen (Never seen it myself) but since the RWW
- > translates Name to IP address it might do that.
- >
- > Either that or you might just have a really crappy router that can't handle
- > the processing required (Some older Linksys BEFSR41 and BEFSR11 running too
- > new of a firmware will do this. But that's usually on VPN where only one
- > person can initiate a VPN to the server at a time.
- >
- >
- >