Henry,

thanks for your help.

I have tried your suggestion and have disabled the feature. This did not stop the prompt from appearing.

As well as doing the above I have placed <http://companyweb> into trusted sites and have tried logging off and then back on.

None of the above has helped. I haven't changed the default group policy that comes with SBS, I have checked the local machine policies and don't have any reason to believe that group policy may be the culprit.

Any further help would be appreciated.

Best Regards
Steve
