

Re: Two companies one SBS

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.sbs/2005-04/msg06015.html>

- From: "Javier Gomez [SBS MVP]" <javier_gomez@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 22 Apr 2005 08:30:47 -0400
-

> The reason I suggested two OUs was to keep the company names separate > from each other. If I didn't what would I call my root domain name, > bearing in mind neither company is a subsidiary of the other?

I'm not sure what you mean by "keeping the company names separate". But, didn't you mentioned that most users work on both companies? If so, what exactly you need to keep separate?

--
Javier [SBS MVP]
www.ms MVPs.com/javier
<< SBS ROCKS !!! >>

-
- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: Two companies one SBS
 - ◇ From: simon
 - References:
 - ◆ Two companies one SBS
 - ◇ From: simon
 - ◆ Re: Two companies one SBS
 - ◇ From: Javier Gomez [SBS MVP]
 - ◆ Re: Two companies one SBS
 - ◇ From: simon

- Prev by Date: Re: Web Security Certificate Keeps Popping Up
- Next by Date: Re: Two companies one SBS
- Previous by thread: Re: Two companies one SBS
- Next by thread: Re: Two companies one SBS
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread