Thanks for the reply but you already gave me that link a few days ago. I don't like including the history because it makes things unnecessarily long. I'm editing this via

<http://www.microsoft.com/communities/newsgroups/en-us/default.aspx?dg=microsoft.public.windows.server.sbs&tid>

That link allows me to see all the past posts so there's no confusion over what was said. Anyway, here's the situation again.

I have three sites I'm concerned about.

www.lloydresearch.com
intranet.lloydresearch.com
projects.lloydresearch.com

The first two are now accessible over the internet since I created the lloydresearch primary forward lookup zone in DNS and since I changed the ISA web publishing rules back to what I had them to before ceicw messed things up. The problem now, is that I can't access projects.lloydresearch.com over the net, nor can I ping the address. I can ping the other two sites fine. All sites have ISA publishing rules, and host records in DNS. Does anyone know why I can't access or ping the projects website?
