

Re: Dell vs. SuperMicro: Reliability and parts availability

---

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.sbs/2005-06/msg07051.html>

---

- From: "Chad A. Gross [SBS MVP]" <chad.gross@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Sun, 26 Jun 2005 00:14:09 -0500
-

David F wrote:

- > Anyone have experience with these mfg for servers? Comments?
- >
- > I'm tired of dealing with Dell's way of delivering parts—sometimes
- > slow, sometimes unreliable, often poor communication via India.
- >
- > If SuperMicro any better?
- >
- > Thanks, David

I try to avoid Dell machines – just too many headaches. And I'm not a big fan of HP either. We build our own servers and almost always use SuperMicro motherboards – and they've been rock solid. I've never had a single issue with a SuperMicro board.

—

Chad A. Gross – SBS MVP
SBS ROCKS!

<http://msmvps.com/cgross>

-
- Follow-Ups:
    - ◆ Re: Dell vs. SuperMicro: Reliability and parts availability
◇ From: David F
  - References:
    - ◆ Dell vs. SuperMicro: Reliability and parts availability
◇ From: David F
  - Prev by Date: RE: Windows Updates Fail To Download!

Re: Dell vs. SuperMicro: Reliabilty and parts availability

- Next by Date: Re: SBS2K3 Backup to hard drive ?'s
- Previous by thread: Re: Dell vs. SuperMicro: Reliabilty and parts availability
- Next by thread: Re: Dell vs. SuperMicro: Reliabilty and parts availability
- Index(es):
  - ◆ Date
  - ◆ Thread