

Re: Exchange ActiveSync & Treo 700w

>>> also stating that they are not documented errors from Microsoft.
>>> And of course to talk to Microsoft, it is a $245 fee. When I use the >>> default SSL connection it acts like it connects to the server, >>> states it synchronizing, and then fails with error code 0x80072F17.
>>> When I uncheck the SSL box, and sync, it takes much longer, and >>> never really fails, but does state at the bottom of the Treo that >>> is waiting for network and then I found an error code of >>> 0x80072EFD. Has anyone come across any of these errors? I'm >>> stumped and have spent countless hours on this already. In my >>> research I'm thinking it has something to do with some certificates >>> on either the server side or client side.
>>>
>>> Sincerely,
>>>
>>> Mike Johnson
>>
>> Presuming you aren't using a trusted third-party cert for SSL, did >> you add the certificate to the Treo?
>> http://petri.co.il/adding_root_certificates_to_windows_mobile_2003_ppc.htm
>> You need to keep SSL enabled.....

• Follow-Ups:

- ◆ Re: Exchange ActiveSync & Treo 700w
 ◇ From: Mario_Chan
- ◆ Re: Exchange ActiveSync & Treo 700w
 ◇ From: Mario_Chan
- ◆ Re: Exchange ActiveSync & Treo 700w
 ◇ From: Mario_Chan

• References:

- ◆ Re: Exchange ActiveSync & Treo 700w
 ◇ From: Lanwench [MVP – Exchange]
- Prev by Date: Re: New and additional user SBS client setup
- Next by Date: Licensing
- Previous by thread: Re: Exchange ActiveSync & Treo 700w
- Next by thread: Re: Exchange ActiveSync & Treo 700w
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread