Hello,

I installed R2 when it was first released on MSDN. I'll "upgrade" to the final release once it's confirmed from MS.

Anyways, now that the Defender defs are delivered through Windows Update, I'm having to go in every other day to approve them. Should they be auto-approved, or can I change something to auto-approve them? I have Client Computers set to High -- Approve all security updates, critical updates and Service Packs for installation.

If they aren't auto-approvable now, consider this my vote for that. It's a pain to go in every other day and approve them.

Thanks,

Dave Hampson
