I just tried to add another computer to our SBS 2003 Premium domain. I received a message that stated that I had to be a "member of the Small Business Server Administrators or Power Users group to add a computer. Please see your administrator." I looked in the mirror and still do not know what is wrong.

I tried to add the computer using our base Administrator account and received the same message. I looked under security groups in Server Management and those two groups do not exist. I do not see anything in the Event Logs to explain this. Does anyone know what might have happened and how I can resolve this? Thank you in advance.

Aaron
