

Wireless network w/ SBS

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.sbs/2006-10/msg05815.html>

- From: "Robert R Kircher, Jr." <rkircher@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 30 Oct 2006 11:47:22 -0500
-

I have a SBS server install and several clients are connected to a wireless network. My concern is that it seems as the wireless network card doesn't actually make connection until after the user logs into the desktop so I'm concerned that domain authentication and hardware group policy settings aren't going to work. Is this a real concern? Is there anything that can be done if it is?

This is a small network using a simple linksys wireless router. We use WPK personal keys to secure the wireless but we are in an isolated location so even that level of security isn't necessary.

Any thoughts?

--

Rob

"A disturbing new study finds that studies are disturbing"