

Re: Default SBS Distribution Group

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.sbs/2006-12/msg01602.html>

- From: "Ron" <ron@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: 8 Dec 2006 10:08:56 -0800
-

Anna,

This does resolve the problem but I wanted to try to understand why it was happening. In active directory under the SBS OU there is the distribution folder. Under that folder there is the one default foo distribution. By going to properties, and going to the email addresses tab, I removed all references to foo@xxxxxxx and replaced with foostaff@xxxxxxx Is there another reference to foo@xxxxxxx besides in the active directory snap in?

Thanks.

.