Re: User change password (command line)

Source:
http://www.tech−archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.sbs/2007−11/msg00931.html

- From: "Lanwench [MVP − Exchange]" <lanwench@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
- Date: Tue, 6 Nov 2007 21:28:06 −0500

Johan Gielens <johan.gielens@xxxxxxxxx> wrote:

> How can a normal user change his password on the command line? Or maybe a script will do the job. If i use NET USER username password /DOMAIN you have to be an administrator even if you are the username specified.

Not possible that I know of − and RunAs isn't useful unless you want to give them admin credentials to use/enter. What's wrong with CTRL+Alt+Del ....change password?

.