

Re: Web Services – Monitoring Software

Source:

<http://www.tech-archive.net/Archive/Windows/microsoft.public.windows.server.scripting/2004-11/0544.html>

From: dave (dave_arraya_at_hotmail.com)

Date: 11/25/04

Date: Thu, 25 Nov 2004 16:19:49 +0100

"The Poster" <nospam@nospam_dontyouare.net> wrote in message:

- > G/Day forum,
- > I've got a number of business critical web services running on multiple W2K3
- > IIS 6.0 servers, and am looking for a software that monitors the status of
- > this web service. Can anyone recommend a Web Service monitoring software
- > that I could use? I need something that can execute a Java Script/VB
- > Script/Batch file/EXE from a dedicated Monitoring Station (Out of Band)–
- > that will initiate a request to my web service, passing through valid
- > parameters, that test all the supporting services on my App servers, DB
- > Servers, etc. I also need this software to be able to comprehend the
- > result,
- > and alert if necessary through SMS, Email, etc.

Here you have a link to the site of netcrunch (<http://www.adremsoft.com/netcrunch/index.php>). It's a network monitoring tool that might be helpfull. It can moniotor nodes, detect events that indicate faults, notify users of problems (mail,sms,...) and activate alerting actions.

dave