Do you have the setup CDs? Or is the setup files stored on the local disk?
Did you do a network installation of Windows?

I am trying to install support for Japanese on my windows 2003 server.
When
I click on "install files for East Asian Languages" in the "Regional and Language Options" panel, I get a popup window that says:

"Windows setup could not properly install the information for Supplemental Language Support"

Anyone have any idea?
